

CHORLEY TENNIS CLUB

Policy regarding non-members

Chorley Tennis Club is a members' only club and non-members are not allowed to play without permission.

If potential new members visit and seek to try out the club, they are of course welcome and can make up to three visits at another member's discretion. Please give visiting players membership application forms.

People who are not serious about joining the club, or who are rude to other players, or who don't use the courts for tennis, should be politely asked to leave.

If they refuse to do so, or in any instance of vandalism or where a member feels at risk, please contact the local police on 101 or Chorley Police Station on 01257 246225. If you are in immediate danger, please dial 999.

Members, please note that the code for the gate should not be given to non-members.
